

Terrazzo revisited

Terrazzo's signature flecks can be made from myriad materials, lending it serious flexibility in scale, shade and application. Design practice Resident Avenue (residentavenue.com.au) has used a wall in Bauwerk's 'Cucumber' paint (bauwerk.com.au) to frame striking vertical panels of the material (left). Its lush tones are one of the most compelling ways to incorporate the modish composite mix into the bathroom, also seen in the punchy, high-contrast colourway of Otto Tiles's 'K-12 Terrazzo Tile', which is bolstered by black and white chippings (bottom right; ottotiles.co.uk). Meanwhile, pops of richly pigmented terrazzo in the form of two shower lights and a shelf, punctuate a tiled wall in this tonal space by Angela Harry (bottom left; angelaharry.com.au).

SHOP THE LOOK

1 'Essex' bath, £3,900, West One Bathrooms (westonebathrooms.com) 2 Soap pump, £14, John Lewis & Partners (johnlewis.co.uk) 3 'TE107', £108 per sq m, Diespeker & Co (diespeker.co.uk)

